“ Oh, rest in peace, Ms. Addy. Your smile was always what drew me to you, but your spirit and your gentle kindness when talking with you was heartfelt and genuine. You loved talking about your grandbabies; you smiled so bright. I enjoyed our chats in the cafeteria at NIH or walking down the halls. You will be missed, Queen. Walk and talk with God, girl! That's GOT to be the best.

My condolences to the Brinkley family and prayers for comfort and Gods love and grace.

“ My prayers and deepest condolences are with Addie's family. I will never forget her. She was such a good friend to my deceased husband, Benson Hamilton. They met at NIH and quickly became friends. Often times when she needed help with something, she would call Ben and he was right there. And if he needed her, she was right there. Addie was such a kind and warm-hearted person. We attended work and personal events together where she often had her grandkids. RIP Addie and I know you and Ben are already talking.

“ My Condolences and my prayers to Addie's whole family at this time of bereavement. I will always remember her for her smile and just talking to her especially talking about her kids and grandkids tending to them after work. Occasionally she would talk about helping out other friends and other family members with whatever they needed. It was an honor for her to receive her 50th year plaque from NIH. She will be truly missed at NIH and her family as well. She was a joy to be around. RIP God bless the family. Jami Davis
