“ To My ?Favorite? Uncle,

I will truly miss you. Even though, I understand death is part of life and we all make plans; I also understand that God is the best of Planners. Nevertheless, I will miss your laughter, your wisdom, your advice and your encouragement. You were always a very influential person in my life. You always had an abundance of wisdom and advice no matter how miniscule or prodigious my problem was. Whenever I needed you, you were ALWAYS there?no matter if it was help with homework, someone harassing me, or just some male or ?fatherly? advice ? I knew I could always count on you to be there for me. You were the one who gave me advice regarding ? boys/men? ? you advised me on what a lady does and more importantly what she doesn?t do when it came to dealing with boys/men from a male?s point of view. When I attend UDC, you made sure I remained focused on the reason I was there?.. to become empowered and educated. You did this without being overbearing and I have always appreciated you for this. I was so proud to have you as my uncle. You were not only handsome and suave, but you were educated as well?the total package. You were not only my uncle ?you were also my mentor. You were the reason I continued my education after undergraduate school. You always expressed the importance of a good education. You not only enriched my life, you also enriched the lives of many and for this you will always be remembered.

I wasn?t able to attend the services, but you were definitely with me and you will forever be in my heart and my memories.##imported-begin##Carleen##imported-end##
