“ He was a great friend with so many interests. He was the greatest gym partner I ever had and was fun to play smash Bros with. Even though it has been over a year I think about him a lot

“ To Amari's Family, Friends, and community,

I am writing to extend my deepest condolences on the tragic loss of your beloved Amari. As an alumnus and current staff member at the University of Maryland, I was deeply saddened to hear about the passing of such a promising and exceptional young person.

Amari's presence at our university was marked by his outstanding academic achievements, his generous spirit in helping others, and his active involvement in various activities and organizations. The words of his professors and the memories shared by those who knew him reflect a remarkable individual - gentle, kind, and always eager to participate. Amari's passion for chess and love for research were just a few facets of his multifaceted personality that left a lasting impact on the university community.

Having faced my own struggles with depression and other challenges during my time as a student, I can empathize with the difficulties that college life can present. Amari's passing is a painful reminder of the hardship many students and minorities may silently endure, and it underscores the importance of fostering a supportive and compassionate environment.

Please know that our community stands with you during this difficult time, and we share in your grief. If there is anything I can do to offer support or assistance to you and your family, please do not hesitate to reach out to our University community.

Amari's memory will forever remain in the hearts of those who had the privilege of knowing him. May you find comfort in the cherished moments and the positive impact he made during his time with us.

With heartfelt sympathy,

Michael Ellis
