“ Hi its me amy your best friend jasmine.I just wanted to thank you and youre family, but manily you.the reason am thanking you is because I wouldn't have made it this far in my life with out you being there to tell me not to give up and to keep on moving forward.I know you are wacting me from above and you seen the things i done bad and good along the way.the bad things that i've done in the past you helped me put them away and start on a new path.You know every morning when i wake up i look out my window and take a look at your house and i already know that am going to have a blessed day.Every time i look at your house i get falsh backs from all times we use to have a great time together and just being able to see your face. It puts a smile on my face.##imported-begin##jasmine##imported-end##

“ It's been a while scene you left us and it's been hard for me to hang on. When you left me its been very painful not beening able to see you or even be able to hear your'e lovly voice. And all the times we use to hang out together, you would invite me over on the weekends. You were the reason i'm amspired to move on in life and become a basketball player. Now without you my whole life seem like its been crashing down. I have no one to keep me happy when i'm mad or sad. I have nobody to play basketball with. I have no one house to go to on the weekend anymore. Sometimes i just start crying when you come to mind, it's hard to sleep at night. I miss spending your'e birthday together. But anyway we really miss you very much and wish that you were here.
