

Brenda Faye Wallace-Jones

June 17, 1953 - August 5, 2006

Brenda Faye Wallace-Jones, entered into God's Glory on August 5, 2006.

Brenda was born on June 17, 1953. She was the eldest child of eight children born to Burnett Wallace, Sr. and Iris Lucille Christian Wallace in Richmond, Virginia. She migrated to Maryland at a young age. Brenda was preceded in death by her infant daughter, Yolanda "Yo-Yo" Nicole Jones, her husband Charles E. Jones, Jr. and her mother, Iris Wallace.

Brenda attended Richmond Public Schools and she later attended Virginia Commonwealth University and the University of Maryland. She worked up until her death at the National Cancer Institute "NCI" of the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda Maryland as a Research Technician, for twenty-eight years. She was a member of Blacks in Government "BIG". She was an Avon distributor for more than twenty years, and she worked for the Comcast Cable Company.

Brenda accepted Jesus Christ at an early age and she attended the First African Baptist Church of Richmond, Virginia. She later re-consecrated her life miraculously back to her Savior just prior to her death.

She leaves to cherish her memory, her father, Burnett Wallace, Sr.; her three sisters, Patricia Harris Reginald, Iris L. Taylor, and Gloria D. Wallace; four brothers, Burnett, Jr. Paulette, Frederick D., Michael A. Belinda, and Cecil A.; eight nieces, nine nephews, two aunts and four uncles; four sisters-in-law, and two brothers-in-law on husband's side; a host of relatives and friends, including two close friends, Brenda Marshall and Ruth Arrington, her two god-nieces, and one god-nephew.

Brenda was an unassuming person, not given to pomp and circumstance and devoid of the pretentiousness of this world. She will be sorely missed.
