“ Lil Num, you will always and forever hold a special place in my heart. I recently rejoined the fraternity, and one of my first priorities was ensuring you were honored in "Chapter Invisible." Your legacy deserves nothing less.

I will never change my Facebook profile picture from that unforgettable day of your probate on December 1, 2010. It's a snapshot of a moment filled with pride, joy, and brotherhood, a memory I treasure deeply.

I miss you, bro. Not a day goes by that I don't think about you. I know, without a doubt, that you're out there hooping in the next life, showing off your skills and bringing that same light and energy you always had.

*Forever your friend, your brother,

“ We are saddened to hear of the passing of little Carrington. There are no words to express the sorrow and pain you must feel... but God. God knows and will continue to be what you need even during this time of great sorrow. May His love comfort and remind you of Christ's love and sacrifice for us. Earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal.

“ Reflecting on the days our sons played basketball together as teammates and as opponents, we are still in disbelief. Rashad and I wish to share our sincere condolences and deepest sympathy with the Carter Family during this time of bereavement. Though we searched for notification of the services through yesterday, unfortunately, we just discovered it today, after the services. Our prayers will continue to be with you as you continue to live through this. Though you will never get over it, God will help you get through it. May the many loving memories and proud moments of Lil C's life, and I am sure there are many, provide you comfort as he lives on in your hearts. Respectfully, Carrie and Rashad Fox, Washington, DC
