“ The following memories I have of my sister Cece are unscripted, and straight from my aching heart. Here are some of the things I'll miss about her.

I will miss all of the bonding time we spent together, such as going to the cemetery to place flowers and pinwheels on all of our family members graves, the days she'd come by and pick me up for line dancing, never wanting to take the short cut, always wanting to take the route that would take us pass her house, so I'd always yell out and wave "Bye Cece!" towards the house as if she wasn't sitting beside me she'd always say "You're sick!", and we'd laugh!

Then there were the birthday dinners with you, Wayne, Joe, Barbara, Pat and myself. You'd always sit beside our brother Joe and then all the fussing and disagreements began, like you were his wife, and when y'all weren't fussing, the four of you would be talking about the trips you either went on or were going on, so Pat and I would say "there they go again talking to each other like we aren't at the table"!

I will miss all the Birthday cards she'd personally make every year, sending each family member a card on their birthday or other special occasion in their lives.

Also, all the other holiday gatherings at Columbia Rd, such as Thanksgiving, and the weeks before Christmas when we would go there and put up the Xmas tree.

On Christmas Day we'd take all of our gifts to the family there and pass them out, and you would give such good gifts, and I will surely miss them. But the days before Christmas, Pat and I would always come over to your house to make Xmas cookies to take to Columbia Rd. You would have all of the utensils and ingredients already on the tables for us to get started. I always did the Snickerdoodles, since that was my favorite and I always liked to eat a few after cooking them. I'll miss this time because you would fuss at me because I wanted to do things my way and you wanted me to do it the correct way, but they would always turn out good!

Last but not least, I'll miss seeing you at Church sitting in the pew when we arrive, and I'd say "good morning" and then I'd say "you look like Daddy" and you'd look at me and say "shut up!". When she wasn't sitting in the pew with us, she was ushering, and so when the church said "Peace be with you", she'd make her way over to our pew to embrace us.

All these memories of you are just to say that I Love You and will miss You so much!

Until we meet again.....

“ All of my aunts and uncles are one of a kind, special and unique people in their own ways, and that's what I love about each of them, as I've learned and continue to learn how to be the best I can be through interactions with them, which are always positive, enlightening, and even hella funny sometimes! And don't get it twisted, they all will get on you about doing what's right for you if they found out you're doing something you know isn't right, as I can testify attest to that one!

I've been blessed to have them all, and I'm sure my cousins all feel the same way.

Dearest Aunt Cecy, you epitomized the word DILIGENCE (Diligence is defined as determination and careful effort). You took care of your husband and family, was a willing participant and volunteer at your church, worked hard for years as a federal government employee, earning your retirement, learned all the latest line dance moves at the Sports and Learning complex (making sure that ya'll "Johnson women" always was the first on the dance floor at functions!) , and still, throughout that entire time, had the time to do something very awesome, maintained and constantly created cards for all of us on our special occasions, be it birthday, anniversaries, graduations, etc...and we know that's one massive undertaking, as large as our family is!

Please know that there were plenty times one of your cards would arrive at our home, and it would make our day just to know that you thought about us...

For every congrats, happy birthday, happy anniversary, get well soon or thinking of you card you created and perfected in all your diligence here with us, God created a better position for you in heaven, Auntie.

I've heard it said that as long as someone remembers you, you'll always live forever, so please know that I've just added you to my list of ancestors, and will ensure that your name and deeds here with us will never be forgotten.

Oh, and thanks again for saving me from the hornets nest attack and removing almost all of the 20-25 or so stingers from my thigh that one weekend Wil and I spent with you on Gault Place.

Love you always!
