“ Cheri,

Words cannot express the deepness of the loss I feel toward losing you. Our friendship was unique and most special that only God and you truly knew. The many years were never ending. I'm so thankful for your Mom sending you to me that bright summer day, it was a true beginning. You and your continual words were always uplifting, encouraging and you were an absolute inspiration. What I'll miss the most are the late night calls where you needed to talk to go back to sleep. Thanks for introducing me to DDS, giving me the courage to withstand and being my friend. The hurt is do deep I find myself needing to speak to you to say "it's going to be alright". Those words resonate in my heart and mind everyday now that you are gone. My friend... my truest, dear friend, I love you and miss you so.

Miss Christine, Pop-Pop (as Cheri so eloquently called you), Roderick, Wanda, Charles the boys and John, with God all things are possible and He will see all of us through. I'm so lost for words, I just continue to lift you all in continual prayer as this true Angel has returned to God. I love you.
