“ To Adrian, Christopher, Brian and William,
We are so saddened to hear of Debbie's passing. We will never forget the kindness, direction, and love that she and all of you bestowed on two brand new parents with a new little baby who were trying to figure it all out. Not only did Debbie and all of you open up your hearts and home to us, you loved Nick and Drew as if they were your own. Debbie will be missed terribly but heaven got a wonderful new angel who is probably already figuring out what new colors to paint, what new garden to grow while taking care of all the little angels. Love to you all! ❤️ Darryl, Carol, Nick and Drew Harriday

“ Adrian, sons, and extended family. You all are in our prayers for peace and comfort. I met Debbie during our employment at Johns Hopkins University. My daughter Erika was in her wedding and her mother became my god-mother when I joined the Catholic church. I always admired Debbie’s caring and selfless nature in how she loved you all, especially her grandchildren. Over the last two years, we enjoyed each others' company: playing archery, shopping, crafts and taking our grandkids places, and more. I will miss my buddy. I pray that knowing how much she was loved by others will helps you through your healing process. Peace and love to you all. Martha Edgerton
