“ Dear Dot I was so heartbroken when I learned that you had gone home to be with the Lord. I will always remember the first day that I met you when I subbed on your team in Thursday Night Mixed League in Waldorf. You made me feel so welcomed and I felt like part of the team and eventually I did become one. You invited to your home and you and your husband made me feel so welcomed. You had the sweetest disposition and always asked about my husband and especially my daughter and the twins. Every time I saw you you had a smile on your face and that brightened my day. I never seen you in a bad mood or had anything bad to say about anyone. You always had kind words and love in your heart. The last time I saw you was at the Potomac Lanes and we hugged each other and said how much we missed bowling with each other. I will always cherish that moment. I will miss you dearly my friend but it's not goodbye, it's so long until we meet again. Take your rest and WE LOVE YOU SO MUCH!!! YOU WILL BE MISSED!!!

“ My deepest prayers to the family of Dorothy Powell, I call her Mother because that's what she was to many. I had the honor of having her grandson IAN ALEXANDER SLOAN. I remember when he was a baby you would always say "I love that face." I will always cherish 2019 New Years Eve in my driveway laughing, hugging and sending New Year blessings; unbeknownst to me that it would be my last time hugging you. I would had held you tighter. Thank YOU and WP for showing us what FAMILY LOVE looks like. Rest easy, I'll still hear that laugh from heaven and long live the QUEEN. Love you! Ian and I will surely miss all of you! Katrina

“ Dorothy, Grandma, Ms. Powell, my friend: THANK YOU for showing us unconditional love.

Thank you to the world's best mother-in-law who welcomed me for whom I am and loving our children with all your heart. Thanks for spanking me in Phase 10 and Spades. Thanks for letting us spend the night and raid your fridge. Thanks for letting the boys do a prayer in Hebrew and being proud of them.

Thanks for helping us with doctor appointments and helping us heal from surgeries. Thanks for vacations to the mountains, the ocean, the Islands, and Williamsburg. Thanks for making us laugh so hard that we had to change our undergarments (yes, I said it). Thanks for putting pounds on me with your awesome cooking and for heartfelt conversations that still bring tears to my eyes. Thanks for being my plus one at events like the Redskins Foundation dinner, providing calming advice when balancing little ones, and remembering the important things in our schedules.

Yes, I told your son/my husband how much you love him, and I told your grandsons how much you love them. We'll keep smiling every time we see your picture and remember time together. We'll do our best to keep Salvador from beating us every time in Monopoly.

“ I know I only knew her for just over fifteen years, but I grew to love her kindness, her generosity, and her quick wit, and she became a close and special friend. She made everyone feel like a family member, and her memorable Sunday and holiday dinners were unlike any I ever attended. She always made enough for any family member or friend. We were all welcome. So inspiring was she that she inevitably became our main character for our Civil War story. The heroes? Dorothy and Nathan (WP) of course.

“ I have so many fond memories of "Moms."
(That's what I called her 😊)

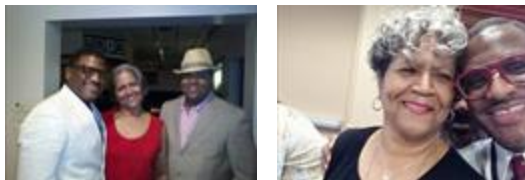

From her annual father's day cookouts she used to have in the backyard on Xenia Street in SE. Or the intense Spade games we would have at social gatherings at her home in Clinton. There is over 35 years memories running through my head. (Little known fact: She is the 1st and only person to ever run a Boston on me in a game of Spades! 😲) The list of memories. I want to share are too endless to mention in a blog.

The story that I've had the pleasure of telling to anyone listening is this...

She attended my mother's funeral back in February. When I first seen her I gave her a big hug and said "You are my mother now." She looked at me in suprise. Then she smiled at me with her signature smile, and said... "I always was your mother." 😊

(Love you forever mom. Say hello to my mother and grandmother for me.)

“ I remember one of the last days where I saw Grandma before she passed. She and Grandpa were both quarantined together, and Grandma was feeling a little under the weather. So to cheer her up, we did all we could to entertain both her and Grandpa WP. My big brother played the saxophone, me and my little brother drew on the sidewalk using chalk, and I even entertained her with my puppets. After that, she felt a lot better after we came and visited. Another memory of her was when we would have a sleepover at her house. Just ever having a sleeping at her and Grandpa's house, was so endearing and heart warming, and whenever both of them were there, it felt like a second home. Even if we were just there to raid her food, somehow and somehow we made her laugh and smile every time. Although she won't be physically at my Bar Mitzvah in December, I'll still be happy about how much she wanted to come, and how her spirit will still live on through her children, grandchildren, great grandchildren and even her husband's presence. We will miss you very much Grandma Dorothy.
Love,

“ I remember at my Bar Mitzvah, I had a thank you speech, and I called her, my grandma, the wise woman in our family. Instead of an aww or a "I am", she said, "yeah right :D". My Grandma was selfless, but she would always remind me of something that she did for me. I love her so much, and I'm going to miss her. She truly was the wise woman in my family, whether it was her excellent cooking, or being an excellent grandmother. I look back at the final trip I took with her. Her, my parents, my siblings, my Grandpa WP, and my other grandparents, Rick and Julie, all went to California. On the trip, we visited Hollywood. L.A is my dream home, and it is my dream to one day, become an award winning actor and director, and call that city my home. I first big visit to L.A was with her, and I realize that she would always be there at whatever play or performance that I was in. I'm glad that I got to share my dreams with her, and I'm truly blessed to be her grandbaby.

Sincerely,
Sebastian Sloan
