“ I was thinking about Dot this morning and what a beautiful and kind spirit she still is—a spirit too good for this world. And as long as I knew her, her character and dignity was unchanging, and she stayed beautiful, kind, loving, and as upbeat as possible. With her down-to-earth honesty and wisdom, she was a joy to talk with. And I remember how fashionable and “fly” she was in her younger years—while remaining wholly responsible for her family and others who needed her love and care. My life is better for knowing her and her three sons, all of whom are family in my heart.

Mom ! Your home we miss you so much . My mind wanders at times to the fond memories to our younger days and lord knows you are the best mom a peron could have I cry laugh and continue to struggle with the fact that you left to cross over to the otherside ,and although you left to experience that calling my mind is at peace knowing that you are in the blessed hands of our lord savior I trust him and trust that he needed you there now to ride your new journey and destiny that he has choosen for you . I will forgive but never forget as I try so hard to deperately understand ! Mom this remind me of when you said to me life is like a 1000 pieces of a puzzle and know that when you work your mind son that every piece hats its and although try hard to place that 1 peice in its place dont ever give up and dont get frustrated you take your time for every piece has its time and place just like life !!! And it will eventually be put in its place in due time but you wait patiently until the sign is given and place it gentle in its place . Just as god blessed you with me, mom im now somewhat understanding that he gives life and he takes lives but he has another plan and mission for you so in essence im somewhat relieved that i know you are in great hands and you are no longer in pain and suffering . But most importantly that you have completed your job here and that god needed you there to look over us and to spread and extend your wings to many other thats in need. I LOVE YOU AND THANKS SO MUCH MOM FOR BEING YOU !!!!! God thank you for allowing our queen our mom for the 75 wonderful years with our mom. Love you victor november 15 2017 will be a date never forgotten. November 25th 2017 will forever be remembered . Love you mom !
