“ I'm so sorry for your loss and would like to offer my condolences to your family. Death is such a terrible thing for a family to go through, I actually lost my mom 3yrs ago. I'm truly grateful that I have the truth about death and look forward to the future when there will be "a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous."—ACTS 24:15. I'm sure you would love to see your loved one again in the coming Paradise here on earth! Again so sorry for your loss!!

Oh my goodness! Just a minute ago I was trying to post a note but I lost it, maybe because I it was so long; I have a tendency to be long-winded 😊, so I'll make this short. First I want to thank Ms. Springer and everyone else for their kind words. God is an awesome God. The Lord allowed me come across this post today, Sunday, November 17, 2024 the morning after I stressed about one of my sister's delimma which caused my blood pressure to spike. I didn't know this posting about my late beloved mom, Ira Mae Young Stafford existed! Thank you Lord for once again leading me to another heavenly revelation. It's truly a blessing and a testament to my worth; self-affirmation that I am worthy of the blessings that the Lord has bestowed upon me. I'm feeling that God led me here to this revelation to help me decide how I can best assist one of my sister's with her current delimma. Lord she's struggling like many of us seniors but some more than others and in different areas. I speak with the Lord several times a day and with my late beloved mom and I'm clear now as to how I should assist my sister in her time of need. None of this may not make sense to some but trust me, thete is a formula, a code, a connection with all things and I always ask the Lord to walk with me and never leave me alone. He brought me here for a reason and I've learned to listen and I feel His presence. So mom, thanks for your spirit upon me enlightening me about my sister. Yes, it's all connected! Thank you God. I do love the Lord and I'm so thankful for the Holy Spirit that covereth me. Pauline Young Baylor ❤️
