“ Oh, what can I say about my good friend Johnny? He had an infectious laugh and gave wonderful hugs (according to my wife, Sandy, whom he inadvertently dropped on a dance floor sloshed with beer). As good as he was in the office (heh heh), he was much better out of the office. I loved him. So did my sons - whether it was Ian trick or treating in our 'hood w/Johnny and JT, or Alex, who gently pulled his hand in the ocean at a North Carolina beach to keep him from inadvertently visiting Spain (Johnny couldn't swim and there was some undertow). He did have an artistic bend by which he created amazing photographs - especially of his beloved Washington, which we proudly display. Johnny was a wonderful guy. We miss you, man. Love, Fritz, Sandy, Ian and Alex

“ Johnny,

Thanks for being a great listener. We used to sit in your cubicle and talk about everything. You always asked how my family and I were doing, and you had an awesome spirit. When you smiled, everyone smiled. You were always smiling! Lol... You watched me grow from a teenager into a young adult, and I will miss you. My deepest sympathy and condolences go out to all of your family and friends. Rest in Paradise.

Johnny was always a welcoming, smiling face. He greeted you and made you feel that you were his friend from the moment you met him. I can remember when he first came to DOL, eager, willing to do his part, and an important part of the new, fresh faces that came on the procurement staff. They bonded as a family and he grew and became an important contributor to the success and comraderie that that office was known for. I'll miss that smile, our fights over the jellybeans in Faye's office, but most of all the man that he was - taking care of his son and willing to do his fair share and be a vital part of our fellowship! Rest in peace my friend.

The memory I have of Johnny was the Humanities Studies exchange trip to Danbury, Connecticut, we had so much fun learning other cultures and representing DC especially on the basketball court!!!! My deepest sympathy to the Arnold Family,
