“ It breaks my heart to hear of your passing so late. Many years have passed since we last saw each other. I remember when I came home to visit shortly after moving to North Carolina and you were the first person to come and visit me. if I had known that will be the last time I would see you. I would've hugged you a little bit longer before you left. We had an ongoing joke “Kelso & Stiffler” that nobody could ever catch on to and we would always chuckle at how nobody got it but us. Shelly you were one of my truest and dearest friends. I will always keep Mike and Ms. Jean in my prayers because I know life for them and others your beautiful soul has touched, will never be the same. I miss and love you “Kelso”.💔💔💔

“ My heart is broken from the tragic loss of my baby cousin, we wore itchy peri winkle blue flower girl dresses and grew up North (away from of most of the family, we argued like sisters, and giggled like children (yours was always the most infectious) at life up to a month ago. I never thought I would ever have to write this, I am at a loss. But my Shelly Belly I hope you knew you belonged, were loved, were unique and I hope you have found home. Thank you for the lessons you taught the family in your life and in your departure, I hope we have learned. We send your son light and love during these times, we send your mom the strength she will need to get through, Rest In Ever Lasting Peace! KW
