

Mildred P. Thompson

September 23, 1960 - June 21, 2020

Mildred Patricia Thompson was born Friday, September 23, 1960 to the late Bernice and William Thompson.

She was the fourth of eight children. Mildred received her education in District of Columbia Public Schools and graduated from HD Woodson high school.

She worked for Washington Hospital Center for 40+ years. She had a smile that could light up a room and wisdom to match. She was known and loved for her kindhearted nature, her playful sassiness, wonderful advice and her diligent work ethic.

Mildred found pleasures in the simple things such as traveling, going to the casinos, and watching action movies.

More than anything she loved family and those who became family by extension. Mildred has one son, Jeffery A. McGhee, one sister Jeanette Thompson and one brother Walter Thompson who preceded her in death.

She is survived by two daughters, London Thompson and Tesha Sandidge and three grandkids, Lamesha, Jaylin and Jarvia. She is also survived by four brothers William, John, James and Patrick Thompson, one sister Linda Wilkins, one brother in law, Barry Wilkins and two sister in laws, Rose Thompson and Rhonda O'Neal. Mildred also has a host of nieces and nephews.

She will be greatly missed by everyone who loved her.

“ My favorite & most precious memory of Mildred is when we were at work I would play music and when A Change Gonna Come by Sam Cooke came on she was in her own world. It was her favorite song. I was a Patient Services Manager at WHC for 4 years and even after I left, I would come to visit or call and when I saw her or she answered the phone I would start singing that song so she instantly knew who I was. She would give me rides to work and bring me back home. Every time I hear that song, I think of you. Till we meet again. My prayers are with the family.

“ Dear Trisha,

It has been a blessing to know and have you in my life. I am confident that our Lord and Savior has a need for you and therefore removed you from this earth. Never forget how much you were loved by all of us.

I refuse to try and act as though this is something that was expected. However, I accept it because I know that our God has everything under control, even if we decline to acknowledge what has taken place. So rest well my sister. I love you and will never forget you.

Love Always,

BJ

Although we hurt, and we shed tears because you, our precious loved one, have departed; however, we are confident that earth has no sorrow that God will not heal. I know that you are in that most beautiful city. Heaven is your just reward for your earthly toiling. We, your family and friends, are thankful for the time God allowed you to be with us. Now, may your soul rest in perfect peace.

Much love, much respect.

“ Trish as I type this message in tears just know I truly loved you. The look you would give me when I asked you for a hug and kiss like you hated it then bust out with that beautiful smile you had. No matter how much I got on your last nerve and bothered you I know you loved me to, just how you look at me smile, and shake your head. You will be missed so much by our family at the getaways, Thanksgiving especially in NC (man will we miss your stuffing. She would always ask Shell how do it taste and I always say Nasty while piling it on my plate- just to see her smile and swing at me lol) and seeing you at the edge of "YOUR SOFA" watching your crime shows. Everyone knew where to find Trish. And to think we was all suppose to go on vacation in May together for a week. I could not wait to see your face but it was cancelled. This just seems like the worse nightmare I ever had but one thing I do know is that our GOD does not make any mistakes. He definitely have a good one. I love you Trish and you will always hold a place in my heart.
