“ We were children on 21st Street. We lived across the street from one another and were best friends. I last saw you just after your youngest son was born. We promised to keep in touch, we didn't. Today I'm reading yesterday's paper and I see a familiar face. Another childhood friend has passed. You were the last of a group of girls I considered a friend. You've all gone now, I stand alone. A lost memory. We didn't speak. We didn't hang out. We didn't bother to know each other as adults. Yet I feel a loss. Never again to see that smile or to hear, "Hey Susie!" while out and about. We were kids, we ran and played together. We grew up, but we never forgot each other. You will be missed! Mari Susie Smith.
