“ Rae,
I miss you so much, It has been hard for me accept reality. I know that you are healed and free from sickness. I really do appreciate you and those talks that we had and how you always told me that you were very proud of me. I truly miss talking to you and stopping by to see how you were doing and we would talk, laugh and have a good time. Oh by the way I do not have the "clown car" anymore : I love you and thank you again for being there for me through my ups and downs. I am thankful that God put you in my life and you are truly missed and until we meet again LOVE YOU##imported-begin##Shaundra Walton##imported-end##

“ Rae, I don't know where to begin. It's been a week and a day since you left us and we are all still hurting inside. I wonder and pray when the hurt will go away. I find my eyes full of tears when I think about you or hear your name. I can't believe I will never see you, hear your voice or get to call and wish you happy birthday on Jan. 23, 2010 as I did for the last 30 years. You were my friend and you took with you some of my deepest childhood secrets. You promised me you would never tell and you were true to your word. I promise you Rae I will keep in touch with your family&hellip; that is my family too and I pray you continue to smile down on us and I know that I will see you again and we will laugh about old times and rejoice about our new heavenly home. I love you mybff and our memories will live on...

“ Hi Marc...This is Terri Daniels formerly Watson. Rae and I used to play basketball together and I was Marc's babysitter. I am in town because my grandmother passed away. I happened to be browsing the obituary section of the newspaper for my grandmother's brief when, to my absolute shock,I saw Rae's picture and obituary. I am so stunned that I'm in my hotel writing this and its the night before my grandmother's funeral. My whole family is shocked since my father coached Rae for a couple of years and my brother and Tim played ball together. Please tell me what happened and how you and the kids are doing. My prayers for you and her family.##imported-begin##Terri Daniels##imported-end##
