“ Mrs. Cooper and Family,

We will miss Rev. Cooper; he was a Christian gentleman with a great endearing spirit. He was so pleasant and always had a kind word for everyone he encountered. Of course he loved to discuss the Bible and left you uplifted after conversing with him. He cherished his family, loved being outdoors and cared about his neighbors. We will fondly remember Rev. Cooper and keep you in our prayers.

Love, your neighbors.##imported-begin##Melisha Eaglin##imported-end##

“ Dear Ms. Cooper,

I saw in the obituary section of the Washington Post, November 11, 2006 issue that your husband died.

When some you love dies, especially if it's your husband, it can mean a whole lifetime of togetherness has ended. You may not know this, but the bible makes it clear that God did not originally intend for humans to die. He told the first man and woman, Adam and Eve, that they would die only if they disobeyed his instructions. So, as a result of their sin that we inherited we all die.

All is not lost, however, since God's original purpose has not changed, although thwarted. He put in place the opportunity for a resurrection . This is stated at John 5:28,29. Yes, God has the power to resurrect those in his memory. So, there is hope that one day you will see your husband again. However, there is something you must do to enjoy that blessing.

A small tract entitled, "What Hope for Dead Loved Ones?", discusses this subject. The next time Jehovah's Witnesses come to your door, please ask them for your own personal copy of that tract or you can email me and I can mail it to you.

Sincerely,

Ms. White##imported-begin##Sharon White##imported-end##
