“ I met Bob on July 13th, 1981. It was my first day working in the Numbering Unit of the U.S. Copyright Office. Bob became my trainer. He was a real cut-up back then. Always pleasant, though he always had a bottle of aspirin with him, he was a true professional when it came to the job. He told me the meaning of a word the others in the Unit used all the time. (Too delicate for this tribute wall).

Great man ... RIP

“ I'm deeply saddened to hear of Bob's passing. I remember him as an extremely friendly and funny coworker. When I first moved to DC and started at the Copyright Office, he was part of a team that welcomed me warmly and helped me to adapt to work and life at the LOC. He was just a great, caring, and charismatic person.

My deepest condolences to his friends and family.
