

Shirley Ann Alexander

May 9, 1941 - March 25, 2011

Shirley Ann Alexander was born May 9, 1941 in Atlanta, Ga., to the late William Alexander and Eloise Frances Kelly. She departed this life on Friday, March 25, 2011 in Washington, DC.

Shirley moved to the Washington, D.C. area with her mother, Eloise F. Kelly during her early years. She attended Margaret Mary Washington High School. She continued her education gaining her Licensed Practical Nurse title and later her Registered Nurse certification. She continued her education at Federal City College in the District

Over the years, she practiced at Children's Hospital, The Washington Hospital Center, and The Hospital for Sick Children among others. In the early 1990's she retired from Humana Healthcare in Washington, D.C.

Shirley was a nurturer and lover of life. She loved to travel, counting New Orleans and her cruise to Alaska, as some of her favorites. She loved her church and spending time with her friends in person or on the telephone. She especially cherished her time spent with her nieces, Sydney and Camryn.

To cherish her life and memories, Shirley leaves her brother, Cornelius Kelly; her sister-in-law, Veronica R. Kelly; nieces, Sydney A. Kelly and Camryn S. Kelly; and a host of family and friends.

“ Neal ~

I am without words; at least ones that I feel would appropriately comfort you. I'm asking that the Creator of "all" things continue to give you renewed strength and peace of mind during this very difficult time. When I think of Shirley, it makes my heart smile, always brings a smile to my face. Always sweet to me and protectively loving you!

Know that her Spirit lives on...

Smooches
