“ The world has lost a truly beautiful spirit. Everyone remembers Terry for his goodness and kindness, caring and compassion. A purely beautiful person who was a natural at lightening the moment without effort, simply giving what he had to give..generosity of his spirit. I will always remember Terry, there just aren't many like him. May he rest in Peace. My sincerest condolences to his family. Paula HU

“ To the Relatives and Family of Terry:

First of all my sincere sympathy on the passing of Terry (English as he popularly known).

Terry's Mom and Wife, I feel your pain in these trying moments. God will give you the strength to help you through these times.

I met Terry when I started at Howard in 1977 as a freshman from Georgetown, Guyana. Terry and I quickly became friends as we shared a few things in common: I am from Guyana, we were both finance majors, we both loved soccer and we both had relatives in Brooklyn in the late 1970's.

As I listened to the funeral service today, I could easily echo the sentiments expressed by all of our friends who fondly remembered English. I must say, I never saw Terry angry, as a matter of fact I can vividly remember his classic laughter. He always had a positive smile which inspired all of us.

After we had left school, I kept in touch with Terry as his roommate Friday and I coached a youth soccer team on which my son was a member. We became FB friends and continued our communication through that medium.

If I am judging from the way Terry approached life, the way he cherished friendships and the way he treated those he met, I am sure he is rejoicing in heaven

Once again, please accept my sincere sympathy for a departing brother.

May Terry's soul REST IN ETERNAL PEACE.

“ I would like to express my sincere condolences to Terry’s family. I was shock to hear of his passing, and still in disbelief. I remember the days at SIUE - He was full of life,...great Soccer player, , always smiling, never a dull moment when he’s around, not to mention the meals that we shared together with Claude, Brian, ...So young, full of life and departed so soon. What a big lost! R.II.P. Terry.

“ English, your passing is a reminder to me that I should live fully every day. You now rest with the Lord but your gregarious and extraverted being is forever with me. Please remember to speak slowly so that God hears your story then light the heavens with your joyful spirit. Live freely in peace my friend.

“ Fondly remembering Terry as part of the HU inventory crew working for Ralph and Mikey. Terry, Pamela, Michelle - quickly getting the job done then liming at the student hall or in the common/yard laughing and talking about God knows what. These were some of my best years among pure and genuine souls like Terry/English. May this memory help to sooth the pain and anguish family and friends are feeling at this time. May God bless his soul and keep you in his grace and mercies.

“ Cousin Terry, you were my eldest cousin and all my memories with and around you have been good one's happiness laughter and fun my early memories of playing football with you sorry I'm from England (soccer) he would run circles around me I put it down to me being younger but it was his skill and passion what really made the difference and last memory, only saw you earlier this year we had a good drink together little did I know it would be our last, while reading some of the comments left by the people who were lucky enough to share and see the good soul you have, it brings tears to my eyes to know you left us, keep a place for me in heaven, I thank you for my memories until we meet again

rest in peace Cousin

“ Terry aka to me and his footballing fraternity, as "English." English you will be missed and remembered for your ability to make everyone laugh and kindness to human kind. I have known English for a very long time, I remember when we met in Wash, DC in the early 1980's, his ability to earn his respect was second to none. We met because of football, once you could play the game at a high level, he was with you for life!!!

Brother you will be missed, I can't believe you are gone so soon. I never expected this to happen to you after spending some years in Miramar with you. I lived about 10 mins away and together with some of his other mates, we would buss many limes.

English had an brilliant way of changing his accents from Guyanese to English, and this would crack me up every time. He was incredible at it and I loved how he made it happen. It was pure kicks every time we got together. However, when it was time for making money, we had our moments. He was very business minded and worked hard to earn a living. Nothing came easy for him but he made sure it was done.

Here's to you English aka Terrance Whall you take care and look out for yuh boys down here....cool!!! God's speed meh bredren....may you rest in eternal peace forever!!

“ This one stings. Terri was an outstanding guy who I was blessed to get to know over the past few years. Such a great guy with an amazing smile and laugh. I’m going to miss our random calls that would last hours. Terri was a connector, truly a genuinely good soul, a pure heart and such a bright light. In a world full of selfish people, Terri was a breathe of fresh air who would instantly restore your faith in the goodness in people. He helped me on many soccer projects that I guess I won’t get the chance to return the favor on. I will learn from this to work with more urgency. RIP my friend.

“ When I saw your name popped up on my phone that day, my first thought was that we were going to continue our conversation from earlier that day. The shock I received of your passing that day will be hard to forget. I remembered saying "Terry Whall, Terry Whall is this a joke, I just spoke to him today..".

I will always remember the day we first met on my arrival to the USA in December 1974 at your home in Brooklyn NY. We both were enrolled to attend Southern Illinois University for the winter of 1975. We bonded and lived like brothers until you transferred to Howard University. That bond remained over the years as we kept in touch and spoke on the phone several days a week either on my way to work or home. I've listened to all your dreams and aspirations, you did have quite a few, and you listened to mine. I remember the joyful times of your life. We traveled together to carnival in the Caribbean and to our home country of Guyana. I will also never forget your kindness as you were the guy despite what was going on, were always trying to help someone out.

My condolences to your mom, I know how much you love her. Condolence also to the rest of your family.

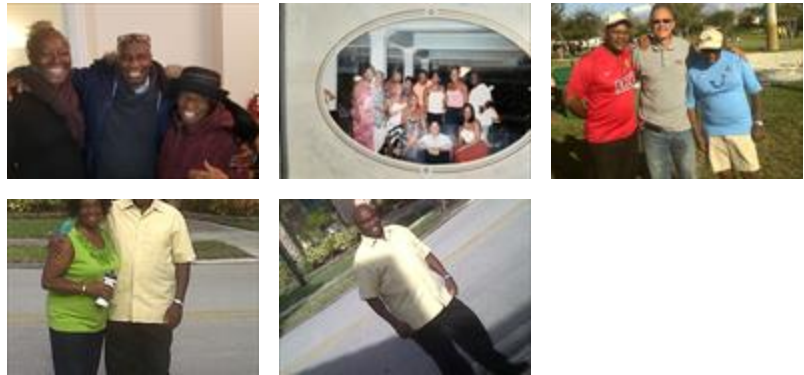

My friend, my cousin, you were like a brother to me and I will miss you. May your soul sleep in peace.

“ PART B

So English, you will be long remembered not only for your skillful soccer maneuvers, not only for your ever-smiling, humor-seeking propensity but you may well be most remembered as the person who dubbed my sibling Kenneth Davy with that enduring nickname...Dirty Harry.

Terry....English....I know you have forgiven (or probably thanked) me & Wagga (Fitzroy Waggstaffe) for the stern warnings we issued to you not to try ANY overlapping runs at the 1979 Connecticut tournament when your Team Jamaica (NY-based) opposed my Jamaica Nats team. Our regular goalkeeper failed to show up so we had recruited a goal-keeper from among the spectators AND we did not want you to get hurt so Wagga & I were glad you agreed that any overlapping under those crucial circumstances would be suicidal. We will always appreciate your understanding in this matter.

Heaven's gates have opened, the kingdom of God has surely gained a wonderful, free spirit but whereas our hearts have lost a space in it where forever there will be a void, the memories of your skillful soccer displays and your "Terry-fic" sense of humor will always occupy a "reserved" slot in our psyche.

Condolences to your surviving family and relatives and may you Rest in Eternal Peace and may perpetual light shine upon you "English".

“ PART A

Just like some well-placed nicknames, most knew you as and only referred to you as English. A few who would have read your numerous newspaper clippings in the Washington Post, the now defunct Washington Star, and/or the HU Hilltop weekly at first wondered out loud, “....who the heck is Terry Whall...”? then quickly embraced “English” as a somewhat fitting nickname. Even when the joke was on you, when you were the subject of our teasing...you would seemingly appear to be the most amused. Maybe you developed this trait because you were always looking for a good laugh and enjoyed a good-natured tease even when you were the target...just as long as you were laughing. This particular quality really endeared you, English my brethren, to almost everyone who knew you!!

The very first “whistle” which signaled the start of our rich, enduring relationship was “blown” on Friday December 6, 1974 when you gleefully approached the Jamaican members (Keith “Barnaby” Tulloch, Mario “Zero” McLennan, Paul Pringle, Richard “Real Kill” Davy, Bert Beckett, and this author) of the Howard soccer team as we were exiting the field after just defeating Hartwick College in Busch Stadium, St. Louis, Missouri. While we Jamaicans were surprised to discover a West Indian in the “Gateway” city, you had been tracking our progress all season and were eagerly anticipating our meeting. As we exchanged pleasantries and we discovered your unhappiness with the Southern Illinois- Edwardsville University soccer team, we strongly encouraged you to seek a transfer to Howard which you did a few years later. What a tremendous addition to the Bison you proved to be! ...you very quickly developed into one of Howard’s most offensive-minded wing backs often punctuating your scintillating overlapping forays with slicing, defense-splitting crossing passes earning you numerous assists!!

English, you may well have been the one whom we must credit with first dubbing my younger sibling with that similarly famous nickname. One warm, dry, summer evening as we gathered to get in cars to travel to the Carter Barron soccer fields, my younger sibling showed up with his “peg studs” (six screwed-in studs/cleats normally only used on soft, muddy surfaces) Adidas soccer cleats. It was you who immediately exclaimed “...goodness gracious here comes Clint (Eastwood) with his six-shooter!!”. You humorously embellished your remark by further explaining “...Just as Inspector Harry (the original Dirty Harry) Callahan has a “destructive” (messy, dirty) way of “cleaning up” a town by capturing hoodlums, my younger sibling employs similarly destructive (messy, aggressive) tactics (tackles) as he “cleans-up” his penalty area by “thwarting” opposing forwards.

“ I came to Washington DC in January of 1977. I went to the Howard University Burr gym to visit coach Lincoln where I first met Terry. The team had just come back from a tour of Bermuda. Lincoln introduced us and we exchanged cordial pleasantries. But by February we were like pals who had been in kindergarten together.

Terry was one of the most jovial, jocular and gregarious character to ever walk the campus of HU. It was very odd to see Terry mad at someone. If he did get mad, it was not for long. Within half an hour he would be back to his jovial self.

Terry was a passionate footballer. He loved Spurs. We used to tease him that they don't win anything. Chelsea and Arsenal winning, what wrong with Spurs. He would say " Haul allyuh (5 letter Guyanese cuss word)". He was a football jumbie. Played for a million teams. The perfect mercenary.

Terry was the ultimate Caribbean man. He had friends up and down the islands, Bermuda(ok Bermuda is North America), Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Grenada, St. Vincent, Barbados, TT and his home land GT. He also has his bevy of island females friends.

Raised in England, he was part of the English Invaders who came to the DC area to work or attend the various universities. Being part of the English contingent, He was a close friend of my wife Pamela. So much so, we gave him the honor of being the godfather of our first Child, Zaria. What a Godfather. The jokiest one ever! Thanks for taking up that honor, Terry!

Mother Whall, Mrs. Whall, it is very difficult for me writing this rambling tribute to console or cheer You up. We had not been able to see each other much since his return to DC. Both busy dealing with life. But He was at Zaria's wedding. A Proud God Father and that was fine with me. You had a Good Son and a Good Husband.

Condolences, God's Blessings!!!!

“ Let us celebrate the life of Terrance Whall affectionately known as 'English'. Terry was a true and loyal friend and had a great sense of humour. Someone who you could depend on, if you asked him for a ride anywhere, he would be at least an half hour early to pick you up. I also admired the love and devotion he had for his mother who we will call 'Moms'. He enjoyed life, an avid soccer fan and a good player, loved parties and socializing.
He was a true brethren and helped me through my transition from Jamaica to the USA. My family and I will always remember him, Rest well Terry.

“Jah Whall Terry! I know everyone is asking why you and why now? I'm so heart broken and will miss you dearly. I'm so happy you called me just the week before you left us with your latest "scheme" business ideas that is going to work for sure this time. You never fail when it comes to the limitless "ideas" you had even if it wasn't your business you ALWAYS shared it with me. I still remember the last laugh we shared. You've been my buddy, friend, play brother, advisor even unsolicited in many cases. I love you. I'll always be one of your "Bush" girls! My favorite and lifelong friend from Howard Purchasing days till the week before you decided to leave us. Wow! I'll forever remember those NY trips from DC just to visit your "Mummy" or attend a football game and party. Sleep well my Dearest. Until we see you again. Your my "brother" forever. Your "bush girl" and "that's my partner-she's a good girl" in the laughing Terry voice. Stay Laughing in Eternity my friend
