“ Tammy and family..I still cannot believe that God called another one of your children home. Tears are coming down my face now because I cannot imagine losing one of my babies, and certainly not two. I dont know why, but what I do know is that God loves you all and you will make it through this season because he loves you and you have so many people who love you, care for you, and are praying for you. We are all his children and he has lent us our children, so that we can raise them on earth. I rest assured in knowing that we will get to meet Jesus one day. This earth has no sorrow that heaven can't heal. And heaven is a place where there will be no more crying.

“ Tim and family, you are in our thoughts and prayers as you plan Tyesha homegoing celebration. So young and full of life, yet gone too soon. I pray God dispatches His angels of comfort as she transitions from this earth. So many memories you have to keep her alive in your hearts. We are right here for you, let us know what you need today, tomorrow and weeks from now. Peace and Blessings

“ Please accept my deepest sympathy for the passing of Tyesha. Death is so hard to cope with especially when we lose a loved one so young. I lost my young son many years ago, but I never forget the pain of losing him. One day we have the hope of seeing our dear loved ones again, because promises that the dead will be raised up. The Apostle Paul stated: And I have hope toward God that there is going to be a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous. Acts 24:15. At that time the Bible says that all those in the memorial tombs will hear Jesus's voice and come out; those who did good things to a resurrection of life. May you cling to God's love to help you to cope in the days ahead.
