“ Wow, it still feels unreal. I can't believe you are gone unc. We shared endless memories. You were my favorite uncle. I can remember being a little girl spending the night with you and Aunt Mae. You would always bring me something back to the house. I remember you taking me with you as you drop ppl off home from the Safeway. I remember you taking me to get my hair done for my prom. I remember you helping me get my 1st job and picking me up every shift. I remember you and auntie letting me stay with while I finished high school. You were so proud when I join JROTC, you would snaps pics of me as I walked to school. You taught me how to drive, and how important is was to be a young lady. You were a father figure and would always tell me you were the only man at the hospital when I was born. I Will miss you forever 💔 I love you

“ Mr. Simon, our dear neighbor! My husband loved him like a brother. He was a kind soul. We'll miss seeing him come and go daily. Mr Simon was always on the move! Sunday & holiday dinners won't be the same, no 3rd plate to send across the fence. We'll surely miss the sweet watermelons he'd bring us in the summer or the old time blues music that was blasting from his car. Mr Simon did know the Lord, it was evident in his kindness and his gentleness. Rest well sir, your work here is done. One day we will see you again.
