“ To Debbie and her family,

When you are able to feel the spirit of a man whom you've never met, and understand how his life impacted others, it speaks volumes to his character. A man of such obvious distinction, so respected and enjoyed by his children and friends, will be deeply missed. Many wonderful stories and memories will remain to commemorate Mr. Jackson's life. I witnessed the constant depth of love and devotion Debbie had for her father as expressed through her rich and lively tales of childhood and adulthood experiences. Now Mr. Jackson may enjoy God's reward of eternal peace. May peace also be with the family during these times of bereavement. Mr. Jackson is in eternal peace. Debbie, we have talked about the gift of knowing that eternity is beautiful and pain-free. Wrap yourself and your loved ones in this assurance.

*With sincerest condolences and love,

“ David and Family,

I am very sorry to hear the news. Some of my fondest memories of college include Mr. Jackson. When I would visit, he always made me feel very much at home. He had a keen perspective on current affairs and I always left the Jackson home with a smile.##imported-begin##Herman Green and family##imported-end##
